

Manual Handling Risk Assessment Information

Who should attend?

SENCOS or other staff members who are responsible for creating Manual Handling Risk Assessments for a child with a Physical Disability.

About the course

If there is a child/young person in your setting with a physical disability who requires manual handling, there must be a Manual Handling Risk Assessment in place.

This course is designed to ensure that delegates are aware of their legal responsibilities in providing a Manual Risk Assessment. It is essential that employers and employees are aware that you can be held personally and legally responsible for not following safe systems of work when performing manual handling duties.

Delegates will also be supported to develop a Manual Handling Risk Assessment.

Cost

There is currently no charge for this training.
